Air Display Here On Saturday; Jets And "Swoopers"

One of the most ambitious programs yet staged at the local airfield is scheduled for this Saturday when Victoria Kinsmen Club and the Flying Club combine to sponsor an Air Show.

The "swoosh" of the speedy jet planes will be a feature, as will the precision flying of veteran stunt pilot N. W. (Swede) Ralston, of Hillsboro, Oregon. Flying his 40-horsepower Piper Cub Mr. Ralston will stage an hour-long display of amazing aerobatics. He flies a 900-horsepower Harvard at low altitudes in the second half of his display.

R.C.A.F. displays will also interest spectators and many other exhibits have been arranged. Free rides for lucky program holders are planned and a remembrance dance in the East Camp Rec. Hall will wind up the afternoon. Display will open at 2 p.m.

H. A. Rose was elected permanent chairman of the Appeal Board to replace A. Sansbury, named temporary chairman at the first meeting.

SEARCH IN VAIN FOR REPORTED CRASHED PLANE

The roar of crash boats and other searching craft disturbed the night hours a week ago as rescue craft from Patricia Bay searched unsuccessfully the night through just off the Sidney wharf for a plane reportedly crashed into the ocean.

Distress call came from Everett Goddard, of Beaufort Road, Sidney, who said he heard an aircraft having trouble. He reported to T.C.A. and the search was instigated.

A T.C.A. inbound flight was alerted and made a sweep over the water at one test. The pilot reported that he saw what he thought was something in the water. The search intensified.

R.C.A.F. crash boats searched the area until dawn without success.

SPEEDY RESULTS

BAGS BUCK IN HOURS HALF HOUR

Speediest hunting trip probably recorded is that of Roy Eng, of Sidney. After applying for his deer tags at the Police station on Tuesday evening he was back at his home in half an hour with a fat and hefty buck.

Speaking to the Sidney Rotary Club on Wednesday evening, Theo. Overman "debunked" most of the stories of glamour and desert life of the Near East. "We are apt to think of such a life as glamorous and one of carefree rapture . . . well, it isn't so," he said.

While the history of the area goes back to the dawn of the world, Allah's back garden is divided by a wall, the Palestine problem.

The speaker, who spent five years at G.I.I.Q., was a colonel in the British army, with many years experience in the Near East. He described the terrain of the country and told of the wealth of oil, the largest known deposits of oil in the world. The two ports, Jatta and Haifa, of which Haifa is the port, play an important part in the drama of the East.

The only practical way of moving the oil is by pipe line, either to the Mediterranean to serve Europe or to the Persian Gulf to serve the East. At present both these routes are used. Thus, said the speaker, control of the Eastern Mediterranean controls the oil flow. In the past this control has been held by England, but now it is held by the United States. The speaker, who is a member of the board, Egyptian the Suez Canal, Persians the Persian Gulf in part, Saudi Arabians control the Bahrain. (Continued on Page Three)

Saanich Chamber Urges Change In Brentwood Water Plan

Catch Limit Of Grise Off Moresby Island

Fishing for two hours on Sunday off Moresby Island, Albert Hafer and Tyson (Slim) Dickinson caught their limit of large fish.

Using only a spinner and hand line the two men returned with 20 fine fish.

"After all the years of fishing off Moresby I have caught anything I could bring about," said Albert Hafer, as he hauled the fish from the boat.

ISLANDS FERRY "MARY" BACK IN SERVICE

The Princess Mary, C.P.R. steamer serving the Gulf Islands, has resumed service after a two-week shutdown due to boiler trouble.

Saanich Chamber of Commerce on Monday night recommended to the Saanich Council that the Water By-Laws not be presented to the people in December in their present form.

Much discussion on the proposed Water By-Laws, defeated this summer, highlighted the meeting, first of the autumn season for the Saanich Chamber.

Majority opinion indicated that a major plan be drawn up covering the Brentwood area only.

New Water Board will include: V. V. Smith, H. D. Patterson, H. B. Brown, Capt. D. McKay, V. Dawson, R. Woodbridge, L. Thompson and A. Butler.

Arthur Ash, M.L.A., spoke in support of a water scheme.

L. Thompson, appointed to look into the garbage disposal question, introduced R. Tucker, proprietor of Tucker's Garage.

RENTED BOAT FOUND SECURED ON SIDNEY BEACH

Constables J. Gibault and D. Allen of the Sidney detachment disavow upon renters of row of the Provincial Police, look with boats who fail to return them to the point of embarkation.

On Sunday afternoon an unidentified man and woman rented a boat from Herbert Corfield, Shoal Harbour. At 10 p.m. the boat had not been returned and a report sent to the police.

Police and R.C.A.F. combined to search surrounding waters until 6 p.m. on Monday when Harvey Lutz, of Sidney, reported the boat secured to the beach near his home.

"It looks as if they had a little ride and didn't bother to take the boat back," said Constable Gibault.

Four youths who hired a boat from Hugh Francis on Monday at Brentwood, left the onboard boat tied up at Cordova Bay, some 20 miles distant.

Present Hafer Bros. With Illuminated Signed Address

More than 60 business men and friends gathered at the home of Victor Dawson, Sluggert Road, Brentwood, on Thursday evening to honour the three Hafer Bros. George, Lawrence and Albert on their 20-year anniversary in business.

A feature of the party was a recorded "mike" and a wire recorder which recorded conversations of the guests as they arrived.

Vic Dawson, as master of ceremonies, asked a leading question: "What do you think of the Hafer Bros.?" the answers, from many old friends, not averse to the "fishing" answer, created amusement when played back at the supper recess.

The thanking was under the care of Stan Magee and Jack McLennan, and the pool of wine was presented to the Hafer partners during the evening.

All guests signed an illuminated address commemorating the occasion, which was presented by Councillor William Kersey during the evening.

Hospital Insurance Plan Benefits Are Outlined

Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner of the Hospital Insurance Service, has announced that all British Columbians must register under the Government's compulsory hospital insurance scheme by September 15. Registration formally began August 12.

The first group to be registered will be persons authorizing premium payments by payroll deduction while registration of the general public is expected to start in about ten days and will be conducted by districts. An individual should only register once—either with his employer, on a payroll deduction basis, or by using the householder type of form.

Premium rates have been set for three main groups: single persons, 16 years of age and over who are supporting themselves financially, and others classed as single persons, will pay $15 per year; the head of a family with one dependent—a wife being classed as such—will pay $24 per year; the head of a family with two or more dependents will pay $30 per year.

BENEFITS

Benefits under the plan include necessary hospitalization for: public-ward accommodation, meals and special diets, ward nursing care, operating room facilities, surgical dressings and casts, available X-ray service, available laboratory service, available physiotherapy, hospital maternity care.

Services not included are as follows: treatment for conditions provided for under the "Workmen's Compensation Act." Cures for alcoholism and drug addiction. Treatment for disease for which provision is made in Government or municipal institutions. Out-patient care. Non-essential hospital care.

Doctor's charges and special nurses are not included in the plan. If a private or semi-private room is wanted, and they are available, the extra cost must be paid for.

CONSERVATIVES OPTIMISTIC, SO ARE LIBERALS

Maj. Gen. George S. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., was hopeful that the Progressive-Conservative party would show a strong increase at the next general election. Speaking at the Oak Bay P.C. Association this week, Gen. Pearkes said: "Our chances, in the Federal field, are greater today than at the last general election; there is indication of tremendous interest in the forthcoming convention when a leader will be elected."

W. Poupore, recently named Liberal candidate for the next federal election here, also spoke with enthusiasm for the Liberal party and its chances.

"There is a wonderful feeling of enthusiasm for our new leader, Mr. St. Laurent," he said. "The Liberal party will be returned with greater strength than ever before," was his opinion of the next general election.

SIDNEY PLUMS IN HEAVY CLUSTERS

An unusually heavy crop of red plums is now being harvested in the Sidney district. Illustrating the size of the crop, Rev. E. S. Fleming this week displayed a cluster of 24 plums on the tip of a stalk measuring only 4 inches. The fruit, on the four-inch stalk weighed 1 1/4 lbs.

Many limbs on the tree have broken from the weight of the fruit.

RECORD HARVEST IN SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa's 1947-48 harvest is the greatest ever reaped in the Union, according to official estimates of the South African Department of Economics and Marketing. Production of maize, tobacco, groundnuts, sunflower seed, kaffir-corn, beans and cheese is, in each case, a record. The total number of beef cattle has been the highest for years, and while mutton is only beginning to build up following the 1944-47 drought, it is expected that pork will be marketed in increasing quantities to fill the mutton shortage.

The annual bazaar came up for discussion and the date set for November 6. Following the business session Mrs. W. S. Harrison spoke on "Why I should belong to the P.T.A."

and "Objective of the P.T.A." Frank Aldridge and Howard Vine rendered several musical numbers after which refreshments were served.

magic given by Alex McCormick, of Brentwood.

"Slim" Watson, of Fairbanks-Morse Co., also entertained with tricks of sleight of hand. One trick, which had to do with an egg, met with an unfortunate conclusion and the result was ruefully, but amusingly surveyed by Mr. Watson on the leg of his trousers. The incident was uproariously approved by the "stag" party.

All three of the Hafer Brothers replied to the presentation made by Mr. Kersey. Albert Hafer accepted the illuminated and framed address for the three and spoke briefly in thanking those responsible. Lawrence and George also expressed their thanks and told of the pleasure they had had in serving the district during the years.

Following the presentation a buffet lunch was served.

Evening Branch Anglican W.A. Plan Party

The Evening branch of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity W.A. met on Wednesday at "Ardmore Grange," home of Miss Evelyn Gwynne, for the first meeting of the winter session. Plans were made for the autumn activities. An "Inch Party" and games night will be held early in October with Mrs. N. North convening the games and Mrs. A. Beswick refreshments and home cooking. Later in the month the "Little Helpers" tea will take place.

rein port; thus, claimed the speaker, the richest oilfields in the world are controlled by irresponsible people and one of the outlets by power seekers.

Mr. Overman told of the Jewish claim for Palestine based on historical grounds. He frankly stated that he personally could not see the point as the Jews did not originate in Palestine. "Romans from Italy once occupied England (2,000 years ago) yet even arrogant Mussolini did not base his entry into the war against England on grounds of previous history."

The Balfour Letter was relegated by the speaker as "one of England's unfortunate skeletons." "It was also an act of duplicity; today 250,000 Arabs are homeless, hungry and destitute," he said. At first the Jews wanted a home; now they want a state . . . will it become an empire, he queried.

The speaker gave credit to the Jews for the progress they had made. Modern methods and the backing of well-trained, well-disciplined troops have already won the fight, was the opinion of Mr. Overman. "Above all, they are united," he said, "and I think they will eventually occupy all of Palestine."

Turning to the lighter side, the speaker told of his five years in Syria and Lebanon. He described the way of life of the tribes, and many of their customs. The habit, for instance, of the male riding a donkey and his wife following on foot, caused some disturbance among the traditionally chivalrous Australian troops. "The Aussies" were always getting into trouble by removing the male, the head of the family, from the donkey and placing the woman

thereon. Hospitality of the tribal chiefs was described as "indiscretable." The ability to steal was also described as "amazing."

Troops have been known to retire in tents at night, only awoken in the morning to find tent, clothes and kit all taken.

Vast amounts of equipment were pilfered during the war and the British decided to do something about it. Perocious watch dogs were imported to guard supplies. This worked well for two days, then the pilfering continued. The wily Arabs had also imported dogs—females.

The magnificent filigree work done in Damascus by small boys, the wonders of the dancing dervishes and many other incidents were told of by the speaker. "Anything can happen in the Middle East," he said.

In Beyrouth, bananas were given in change by the authorities due to a money mix-up at one time. "One can imagine a street-car filled with Arabs, each eating their change," said Mr. Overman. He told also of a terrific argument his wife had overheard in Jerusalem on a public conveyance. Two Arabs were in the midst of a most violent argument with the gentleman in charge of the vehicle. They carried a box which contained the corpse of a relative. The dispute was whether or not they should pay for the departed one's fare.

Mr. Overman was introduced by Harry Tobin and thanked by Donald McKay.

... The Editorials ...

TO TOIL, OF COURSE, AND TO SPIN

OUR purpose here is to discuss with you the role of the weekly newspaper in a community. This rather chatty opening is adopted deliberately, for is this not the place to discuss these things? This column is the opinion of this newspaper; it is here only, and not in the newstories, that opinions shall be expressed by those who edit or write the happenings of each day for your perusal.

Right away then, we have one premise upon which a weekly, or any newspaper, may be guided. The Editorial column expresses the thoughts and opinions of those who perhaps, through an overall and intimate knowledge of the subject, are considered best able to express an opinion. The value of these opinions, of course, varies, it varies in the ratio of the value and success of the publication.

This weekly newspaper attempts to let each issue be a photograph of the doings of this district of the previous week and a foreshadow of the week to come.

The news is told boldly and plainly, we endeavour to continue a reputation for truth and reliability, frankness and independence.

A weekly newspaper, such as The Review never wilfully deceives the people or trifles with their confidence. The temporal and moral welfare of the community is ever at heart, and no subservience is made to those in political or high places in an effort to secure favours.

The mechanical execution of the printed page is closely scrutinized, to the end that a well-produced newspaper is printed.

These then, are the things those of us at The Review attempt to do. You will notice, perhaps, that if the soil of the district produces extraordinarily large beans in a simple backgarden, we mention the fact. It is the little things of the district which are of more than usual interest to us. The soul-stirring events of the world at large are reported to you through your daily newspaper, for we expect each reader of a weekly to also read a daily of province-wide and world news coverage.

The role then, of The Review, shall properly be to record the daily events of the communities it serves. We enjoy this work, and we enjoy those fellow residents we meet about us. To knit more closely in a bond of mutual understanding the area of Saanich, and the Gulf Islands, each in its geographical sphere, is also an endeavour of The Review.

From our number of yearly subscribers it would appear that some measure of success has rewarded the diligence and toil on the part of those who produce this small weekly paper.

We will continue to produce a clean, well-printed and readable paper, and trust that this small piece will help to make known the role it is expected to play in the community.

ELECTRICALLY WE SNUGGLE TO THE CITY

SOME weeks ago we expressed in these columns, the thought that the rural areas would be asked to pay the piper. The article concerned a unification of services of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company. We said then that rural users of electricity would pay for lower streetcar fares and lower gas services to city dwellers who had access to such services. We suggested that a statement should be forthcoming to the increasing number of rural residents of the peninsula.

It is with pleasure that we record in brief, a statement conveyed by W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric.

In effect, Mr. Mainwaring stated that if the electric users of the Saanich Peninsula paid their way, cost of electric services would rise approximately 50 per cent.

Before we expound on this rather obvious conclusion, may we remark on the attention to detail displayed in this case by the officials of this public utility company. Some 8,000 readers will possibly read what we have to say in these columns. Our scope is not terrific, and yet our previous article prompted Mr. Mainwaring to explain to us in person and in logical detail the situation covering this proposed unification of rates. It is, we believe, indicative of the services a large and vigorous company may render to its consumers.

Let it be said then, that the Saanich area is linked with the Victoria district as a trading area, a "field of coverage" circled to define boundaries of service districts. In truth, if North Saanich had to maintain the long and costly pole lines necessary to bring light and power to these more sparsely populated districts, costs would be very much higher.

There is much, much more to the operation of a public utility company than that. The degree of surveillance maintained by a zealous government is high. Contrary to the thoughts of some, every incentive is evident for the company to make the cost of electricity lower and not higher. It is the old adage, the more you have the more you'll use. Space forbids a more lengthy description of the reasons for unification of services, it is evident however, that under such a plan, rural consumers will not stand to lose, rather indeed, the opposite.

Electrically and powerfully we snuggle close to the city.

PEMMICAN AND OLD BOOT LACES

ONE of Canada's chief grouses is that many people in Britain and most Americans are entirely ignorant of her geography and way of life," says Mr. Punch's special correspondent in a recent issue of that inimitable publication under the title of "An Innocent in Canada."

The correspondent goes on to say that the Americans, it seems, "have the most fantastic notions about their northern neighbours, visualize them as a gang of semi-civilized nomads, Red Indians and poor whites, scraping for edible mosses in the perpetual snows of the tundra."

"I am told," the correspondent impishly continues, "that Yankee tourists sometimes arrive in Winnipeg for their mid-summer holidays lavishly equipped with furs and ski-boots and prepared to exist solely on pemmican and old boot-laces."

While we have plenty of American friends who know better, it is a fact that this great country of ours needs a campaign of enlightenment abroad to tell the world what an up-and-coming place Canada really is.

One real effort in this direction to come to our notice is a fine little publication, called "Canada Today," recently published by the Bank of Montreal. It is a pocket-sized brochure of 100 pages copiously illustrated. It tells, with an amazing number of facts—and not too many figures—the story of Canada, her resources and her people.

Here is an immensely readable story of Canada which shows this country as living on a standard to all intents and purposes the same as that of the United States—a country which has made major contributions to industrial, scientific and cultural advancement—a country of almost unlimited resources and an industrial output that has trebled in value since 1939.

We understand that the B. of M. distributed thousands of copies of "Canada Today" to visitors at the recent Canadian International Trade Fair and that additional thousands have been sent to all kinds of business and financial people abroad who may be interested in trading with Canada. It is also receiving some distribution to tourists and prospective emigrants to Canada.

The effort is a commendable one that should help break down the ignorance about Canada abroad. While the publication is intended primarily for distribution beyond Canada's boundaries, it can serve a real purpose at home in selling Canada to Canadians, and we are glad to know that limited quantities are being made available to school libraries and to teachers where class-work includes the study of the economic and industrial development of the country.

Prison Experiment Now In England

In Britain where new ideas on prison reform are rapidly gaining ground, they are trying out a "restore-them-to-normal-life" experiment.

Tucked away in the Romney Marshes is a new type of prison camp. It is without cells and without high walls cutting prisoners off from the outside world. Especially picked men of the prison services are operating this scheme for selected prisoners and are putting to the test the question: "If you give a prisoner a taste of freedom and train him in useful work before he leaves prison, will he revert to crime on his release?"

Britain's Home Secretary, Mr. Chuter Ede, is watching the experiment closely. He and the Prison Commissioners realize that one way of reducing the prison population is to prevent men from returning to crime.

The camp is used mainly as a bridge between prison life and the outside world. In the records is the story of one man who had for years reverted to crime as soon as he was released from prison. After treatment at the experimental camp he was found a job in a skilled trade, became a charge hand after six months and is still doing well.

The camp has already dealt with 100 men, but the community will soon have a constant population of 100.

Said one prison officer, "Aldington goes beyond the limits of the prison-without-bars. Complete freedom is offered to the serving prisoner and he doesn't escape because he knows that at least he is being reformed for a new life."

Most of the men mix freely with the local people and go to the village church on Sundays. Trades are taught in the prison and every effort is made to re-educate prisoners.

MORE ABOUT TEST CASE

J. Wakefield, attended. Mr. Wakefield acted as proxy for Mrs. Foye, who was unable to attend.

Mr. Godwin told the board that he had purchased the property two years ago, before the regulations came into effect, a carpenter, he had given up his work to build a tourist camp on the property on the upper side of Leechside Road. He had made certain purchases, including 18,000 feet of lumber and started to erect the property. Learning of the impending zoning regulations Mr. Godwin told the board that he applied to the assistant assessor who told him to go ahead as the regulations were not in force. He was willing to make minor changes, but stated that his plans had been approved by both the Oak Bay and Saanich Municipal building inspectors.

Mr. Burkholder, speaking for Mrs. Burkholder, formally made complaint against the construction of the tourist camp on the grounds that his water supply would be contaminated. His property lay below the proposed camp, with the road between.

Mr. Cannon reported that the provincial health authorities had approved the septic tank arrangements made by Mr. Godwin and would issue an approval if the Appeal Board approved the appeal.

Mr. Wakefield, speaking for his own property and that of Mrs. Foye, claimed that adjoining properties would depreciate in value.

After hearing both sides the Appeal Board through Mr. Sansbury, asked that their decision be postponed until the board had inspected the site and further discussed the case.

He promised that an early decision would be arrived at.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By "ANDY" JOHNSON

"Twice Father's Day and the ranch was swamped with products of the flock. One of the flock had arrived at that interesting age when every other sentence was punctuated with a request which took Uncle for a ride or a trip. In this case the ride won and we landed at the airport to watch flying machines disappear slightly more elders than my car did kids. From there to the duck farm — and here's where I wander.

It seems a long time ago now, but I can't help but think of the 24th of May parade which caught guessed it! The back of his hairy mitt was densely populated with a species of insect life which is only to be found in an unclean henery.

In the local whisker works recently the boys were discussing quiz contests, so let's have one. A hundred years or less ago a young girl was rowed ashore by the second officer of a boat anchored well off Beacon Hill Park. She had smallpox, was confined in the "Pest House," died later of the disease and was buried near the waterfront. Tell me the name of the second officer; what was the ship called; who built the Pest House, and what happened to him.

Young married men would do well to remember that their wives would sooner listen to a wonder story than a long moral record. Which statement brings to mind — as the man talked, she looked at him and her mouth softened in indulgence and her eyes lit up. A look of pride came over her face. She didn't seem to take much notice of what he was saying; rather she seemed more interested in watching him say it. They brought to mind a couple of whom it was said that maybe she did have to earn the living, but he, lazy that he was and shiftless, made the living worth while.

So, as the fishmonger said when he chopped his little boy's head off to stop him from squinting: "That's that."

Girls Ball Team Entertained At Season-End Party

A party for Sidney Senior Girls' softball team was held on Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spears, Sixth Street.

Games were played and presentations made to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and Ted Clarke in appreciation of their help and transportation of players to games. Coach Benny Eider also received a gift. A feature of the evening was the presentation of an electric kitchen clock to Benny Eider and Joan Thomas who are to be married on Friday. Invited guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. G. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gardner, Mrs. Kitty Frost, Bessie Jackson, Joan Thomas, Vi Palmer, Ellen Bowker, Beatrice Palmer and Benny Eider.

Praise Given Local Author's Poems

Critics are praising Rev. E. S. Fleming's second volume of poetry, entitled "Whither and Why." The work, more serious in tone than his first book, shows a deeply religious outlook on life. The poetry has been described as simple and vigorous, and extremely easy to read.

The work was published from the presses of The Review in Sidney.

"THE EGG AND ME—"

MAYBE somebody could put me straight on this chicken business. . . there seems to be a lotta argument . . . does it pay??? or does it NOT . . . to have a few biddies wandering about in the yard??? For a long time now, I've tried to talk the G.F. into letting me fix up a pen down in the trees, but she says it would end up by her being the one who had to keep 'em tidy, and "they bring rats . . . and they make an awful mess and that I wouldn't want to knock one over for a Sunday dinner, 'cause I'd get fond of 'em". . . and well . . . SHE DOESN'T WANT 'EM. I always come back with, "well . . . it's kinda homey to see them, and a nice secure sort of feeling when you hear one announce that another egg has just dropped (about the only time they do) . . . and besides grandfather always used to have them at home . . . and I didn't really care if they paid their way or not . . . it was more of a hobby with me." "Well," she said, "if you SHOW ME it's worthwhile . . . maybe now with the price of the darn eggs . . . I might weaken."

YOU'D SURELY WEAKEN if you saw THIS chesterfield suite because it's only $169.00. We've tried to give you EVERYTHING in this . . . a big roomy family set, with wider (more practical) eggs . . . I mean arms) your choice of 3 covers (fried-boiled or poached).

WELL . . . today a fellow blew in here . . . a casual easy going type . . . I think he does a spot of free-lancing for some journal . . . and he told us he'd bot a place just outside New Westminster . . . that it was nice and quiet so he could get on with his writing . . . but on looking out the window one day, waiting for an idea . . . he noticed some abandoned chicken houses, so he that they looked kinda sloppy that way, and he got to thinking how nice it would be to have fried eggs whenever he wanted to, that he saw a man who leased him the place, and said "sure . . . go ahead, use the chicken houses or anything else U find." Well, he found an old brooder lying about and water troughs and everything else, and as he says "first thing I knew eggs were falling over the place, so's I had little time to go on with my writing . . . and now I'm in "chickens" in a big way . . . and it's all been so easy . . . I just gather them up once a week, and a man comes in a truck and lugs 'em away. Nothing to it really . . . makes me wonder how long this sort of things has been going on." He left me casually as he lounged in, and we all sat, well . . . I'll be d . . .

YOU'LL BE DELIGHTED with the eggs, I mean the comfort in this Chesterfield too . . . big deep springs, and remember $169 and that we talked cold-chicken to the Mfr. to get him to do it.

IT WASN'T AN HOUR after our friend above left, that another chap came with his truck to pick up one of these suites I just mentioned . . . he lives way out Methow way . . . and I asked him how things were going? "Listen Mister . . . don't EVER go into raising chickens . . . I'm selling all mine (and I've hundred's) I'm not paying freight on grain from Alberta, getting up at dawn, then lugging the fool things to town anymore . . . No Sir, not me, when it doesn't even pay for the mush . . . one of the houses I'll turn into a tool shed . . . the other I guess can just sit there . . . don't EVER MENTION eggs to me again." So there you are dear reader, and it seems just about as baffling as which came first, the CHICKEN OR THE EGG????

Crown Disposes Of

War Plants

Virtually all the industrial buildings constructed or financed directly by the Crown during the war have now been disposed of permanently or temporarily. Of their 33.5 million square feet of floor space, 84 per cent has been more or less permanently disposed of through sale to industry, transfer to government departments or to Crown corporations, or has been dismantled or demolished. An additional 15 per cent has been leased to industry, in part on a multiple tenancy basis, or temporarily transferred to the War Assets Corporation for war surplus storage purposes. The balance of only one per cent is now available for disposal. The Canadian government financed the construction of 170

new plants during the war, at a cost of over $200 million, excluding an expenditure of $500 million on equipment.

The plants turned over to private industry, and being adapted to peacetime production are expected to employ more than 50,- 000 people. They will be turning out almost every major type of manufactured product, including automobiles, airplanes, communications and electrical equipment, paper and wood products, chemicals, pharmaceuticals,

plumbing and heating equipment, and textiles. Many of these commodities are being produced in Canada for the first time, and are

GLASGOW SCIENTIST

CLAIMS HENS LIVE ON GRASS AND LAY LOTS OF EGGS

Dr. R. Tullis, a Glasgow scientist, has the poultry world in an uproar. After years of research Mr. Tullis claims to have bred hens that will live on grass and keep on laying eggs. He makes a compound of four-fifths grass and one-fifth grain by a simple, yet secret process. This compound is made into pills about the size of an aspirin tablet. The inventor states that a few pills not only give the hen all the nourishment it needs, but also increase egg production by from 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

Four to five tons of mown grass are sufficient to provide one ton of pills. Other scientists of Europe have developed hens which lay eggs with no shells. In Canada a novel method of selling peewee eggs came to light recently in Trenton, Ont. A service club holding a carnival found that hamburgers could not be obtained. They pressed the little eggs into service, fried them and placed them between the usual buns. Called "Eggburgers" they sold very rapidly.

AUSTRALIAN APPLES

During the current apple export season over 3.5 million bushels have been exported from Australia. Of this quantity, over 3 million bushels went to the United Kingdom, 320 thousand bushels to Eire and Scandinavia and the remainder to the Far East.

The Hon. Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general, who has been placed in complete charge of British Columbia's case for the removal of mountain differential, has been advised by the secretary of the Board of Transport Commissioners that the hearings on the case will be held in Vancouver, November 9 and 10. He already has the preparatory work well in hand and is being assisted in this regard by Mr. Charles Brazier. After sitting in Vancouver the Board will go to the interior for further hearings, at Kelowna November 12 and Nelson November 13.

The decision of the Board of Transport Commissioners to hear the case on the mountain differential follows strong representations made by Premier Johnson that British Columbia's claim for removal of the differential be heard before consideration is given to any other application for increases in freight rates or before the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire generally into the Canadian freight rate structure.

Mr. Wismer in referring to the freight rate hearings stated that British Columbia's application will be for complete removal of the discrimination against British Columbia entailed by the mountain differential.

P.C. POWER COMMISSION

The Peachland-Westbank area of the Okanagan is to receive electricity from the B.C. Power Commission's new hydro plant at Whistler Lake, Premier Byron Johnson announced.

The government has approved spending $78,800 to lay a submarine cable across Okanagan Lake from the power plant. The cable will stretch between Kelowna and Westbank. The area already is served by the Shuswap Falls power system, but requires additional service.

In addition to the installing of the cable, the Premier announced the B.C. Power Commission will take over the electric plant at Chase Village at the west of Shuswap Lake. The plant is being purchased for $10,927 from Carlin Brothers and the distribution system will be linked to the Kamloops power supply by October 1 of next year.

FRASER VALLEY REHABILITATION

Premier Byron Johnson has announced that the government is considerably widening the scope of its rehabilitation program for persons who suffered in the Fraser Valley flood of early summer and to give benefits to more people than at first contemplated.

Hop growers, nurserymen and small businessmen will now be assisted and fruit growers may, if they wish, go into some other agricultural pursuit and still be assisted by the Fraser Valley Rehabilitation Authority.

Hop growers and nurserymen are now considered as coming within the category of agricultural pursuits and the Authority, with government permission, will help such persons get re-established.

Fruit growers who were washed out now may be assisted by the Authority to go into some other agricultural business, such as chicken raising or dairying. The stock will be purchased for such growers; they will not be given cash.

Also to be helped under the accelerated plans are traders, garage and service station operators, whose premises will be restored to as near as possible their pre-flood condition.

Seagram Gold Cup For Canadian Champ.

One of the classic fields in Canadian golfing history will tee off late this month over the Shaughnessy Golf Club course in Vancouver in the 39th Annual Canadian Open tournament for the Seagram Gold Cup and $10,000 in prize money. Four days of medal play, starting September 22 over the par 72 Shaughnessy layout, will decide who will replace South Africa's Bobby Locke as Canadian Open champion. Locke has returned to his native land and will not be defending his title.

- Lunches To Pack -

With the "back to school movement," many homemakers are again confronted with that daily problem of packing the school lunch.

There are several unalterable rules for planning school lunches. The meal should fit with the other meals of the day to fill the day's needs completely. Foods should be wrapped separately to keep them fresh and prevent mixing of flavours. The lunch box menu should have three groups of food. The first includes meat, eggs, cheese, fish or dried beans. These are usually made into sandwiches or salads. There should also be fruit and vegetables. If packed in a box, fruit may be prepared unpeeled and whole, but occasionally stewed fruit may be put in a small jar with screw top. Raw vegetables in salads or crisp vegetable sticks are good. A thermos bottle of milk or a cream soup will round out the meal. Perhaps the child would rather "eat his milk" in the form of custard or other milk pudding. In addition, a cookie or piece of cake will be popular.

Something different for a sandwich filling is always welcome, particularly if it can be made in quantity, kept for a time and used occasionally. The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, have recipes for several sandwich fillings that will go over well with the child who carries a lunch. Adults will like them too.

LIVER SPREAD

- 1/2 pound sausage
- 1 pound pork liver, sliced
- 1/2 cup onion, finely chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg

Cook sausage in a hot frying pan 15 minutes, add liver and continue cooking 15 minutes. Put meat and onion through the food chopper. Add salt, bread crumbs, which have soaked in the water, and slightly-beaten egg; mix well. (No further cooking is required). Store in a covered container in a cool place. To use as sandwich spread, mix with enough salad dressing to moisten. Yield: about 3 cup.

CHEESE SANDWICH

- 1 1/2 cups or 1/2 pound grated cheese
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped green onions
- 2 chopped, hard-cooked eggs
- 1/4 teaspoon celery salt
- 3 tablespoons pickle, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon spicy meat sauce
- 3 tablespoons chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon butter, melted

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. This mixture may be used with bread in sandwiches or spread generously in split buns. Yield: filling for 12 large sandwiches or 6 buns.

GREEN TOMATO-PEPPER SANDWICH SPREAD

- 2 cups ground green tomatoes
- 3 green peppers ground
- 3 sweet red peppers ground
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup water
- 6 sweet pickles ground
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons mustard
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1 cup sour cream
- 4 eggs, well-beaten

Grind enough tomatoes to make 2 cups without the juice. Grind green and red pepper and mix with tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 10 minutes. Drain off juice, add water and cook until tender. Add sweet pickles and keep mixture hot while preparing dressing. Mix remaining ingredients in the order listed. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour over tomato-pepper mixture, blend well. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

NOTE:—This spread may be kept indefinitely when stored in a covered jar in an electric refrigerator.

CROP CERTIFICATION IMPORTANT TASK

The summer months are busy ones for the seed inspectors and district supervisors of the Plant Products Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. During that time they visit farms and inspect the growing crops to ascertain whether they have merit from the standpoint of seed production. If the crop is found eligible to produce Certified seed in accordance with the requirements of the Seed Act, a Seed Crop Certificate is granted.

Quite strict inspection is required to qualify a crop for this Certificate and make it eligible to produce Certified seed. The crop must be grown from pedigreed seed, that is from Registered seed, and in some cases from Certified seed. It must be pure as to variety and other kinds, as determined by actual count at the time of inspection of the growing crop. It must be relatively free from seed-borne diseases, also as determined by count while the crop is growing. In addition, to prevent contamination, it must be grown in a field well isolated from other varieties or other crops; on land relatively free from weeds, particularly noxious weeds; and on land that has not produced unregistered crops of the same kind in the previous year.
